Elevator Pitch

My book is about the importance of food for a sound mental health. This book will be for kids of around 7 years old. For them, it would be fun to meet their known characters Tom and Jerry with a message with the flow of the story. The adventures of Tom and Jerry will keep them interested while they read it and finally realize that they should eat food for not only a healthy body but also a sound mind. Double incentive for them!!!! The story portrays a unique scenario where Tom and Jerry instead of being against each other like always will help each other out in figuring out reasons behind Tom's bad mood. Since it is rarely seen that they sympathize with each other, it would be nice to see them on good terms when it comes to keeping each other active.

I think it is important for kids of 7 years old to know that they should eat food for both building up a good body and staying happy. I think they would value being happy even more because kids at that age are looking out to have fun and be cheerful. So getting to know that healthy eating habits would help freshen up their mind make them want to develop good consumption habits. I think my book should be published because it comes with the little twist of the bond that Tom and Jerry can share along with an educational message which kids might not have come across before.
